

THE BIGGEST BATTLE OF ALL PREDICTED

Troops are Rested and Ready for Fierce Struggle.

Troops Are Now Concentrating
About Mukden—Port Arthur is Again Attacked.

BOTH SIDES ARE CONFIDENT

London, Sept. 21.—Port Arthur is again the center of interest as regards the war in the far east. A general attack by land and sea is regarded as likely to follow the Japanese assault upon the redoubt protecting the water supply of the fortress and town, and participation of the fleet under Admiral Togo is looked for. In this latter event it is expected that the remnants of the Russian squadron in the port will rally forth to follow the Japanese ships. Eight, and possibly nine, Japanese divisions are reported to be advancing on Mukden and another battle between the armies under Gens. Kuroki and Kuropatkin is imminent. St. Petersburg has heard that the Russians' Baltic squadron has been reinforced by four warships purchased from Argentina.

WILL BE FIERCE BATTLE.
Tokio, Sept. 21.—General Kuropatkin, it is learned, is preparing to make a determined resistance at Mukden. He is strongly entrenched there, and has an immense army at his disposal, and the battle will be terrific, as both armies are in condition to renew the fighting. Field Marshal Oyama will continue to press Kuropatkin until the operations are stopped by the snow fall.

Paris, Sept. 21.—The Matin's Chefco correspondent telegraphs:
"The use of dum dum bullets by the Russians is confirmed, a Russian having confessed to me that he brought a thousand such bullets with him and used 300. I believe this case was of individual initiative, for which the authorities are not responsible. On the other hand, a witness affirms that the Russian soldiers at Port Arthur have been killed by explosive bullets."

JAPS FLANKING UNSUCCESSFUL.
St. Petersburg, Sept. 21.—Gen. Kuropatkin, under date of yesterday, reports that the flanking attempt by the Japanese on the Russian left was unsuccessful. The situation at Mukden, he says, is unchanged. Monday the enemy was observed moving to the East Daling Pass, and later the Japanese made two attacks on the Russian position, but were repulsed and the flanking forces were checked by the cavalry and machine guns.

SOMETHING TO BE DOING.
London, Sept. 21.—The correspondent of the Reuter Telegram Co., says that it is predicted the reduction of Port Arthur will be accomplished within a fortnight.

STATE SECRETARY COMING.
There will be a board meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Monday night at which State Secretary H. E. Rosevear will be present. The athletic board will meet tonight to arrange the athletic matters. The classes open October 1st, and the sample of suits will be on hand in plenty of time for selection before the opening of the classes. There will be two men and two boy classes.

CRACK FOOTBALL TEAM.
Louis Rieko and others are organizing a football team and it will be named Paducah. The team will be composed of strong, fast and well built young men. A number of the boys are practicing now in the Y. M. C. A. athletic room. Games will be played with out of town clubs. If possible a circuit will be arranged. This will be the first real football Paducah has had.

Nine regulars were held to the grand jury on the charge of complicity in the murder of Corporal Clark at Athens, Ohio, maneuvers.

Servians are not enthusiastic over the coronation of King Peter and he is said to have received threatening letters.

SWITCH TURNED WITH FATAL EFFECT

Successful Attempt to Wreck an
I. C. Train in Illinois.

A Passenger Train Turned Into Mining Company's Buildings—Frost and the Corn Crop.

A WRECK NEAR COLUMBUS, O.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 21.—A deliberate successful attempt at train wrecking occurred early this morning on the Illinois Central at Barclay, 15 miles north of here. The diamond special, running 45 miles an hour was thrown into the topworks of the Barclay Coal and Mining company's mine, all but the rear sleeper leaving the rails. Fireman Geo. Conannon was killed, and Engineer Walter Hays was badly injured. Officials say the switch light was out and the switch turned in a way to plunge the train into the mine buildings.

NO DANGER FROM FROST.
Chicago, Sept. 21.—Dispatches from the towns of the principal corn growing districts, indicate that there is no danger to the crops by frost.

TRAIN JUMPS THE TRACK.
Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 21.—Norfolk Western passenger train jumped the track at Lockbourne, this morning. Engineer Simonon, of Columbus, was killed, and Fireman Kyle, probably fatally injured. No passengers were seriously hurt.

THE BLOODY RAZOR ON THE MURDERER

Louisville's Latest Mystery Has Been Cleared.

William Desha, an Alleged Murderer, Kills Himself In Jail at Carlisle.

LIGHTNING BOLT KILLS SIX

Louisville, Ky., September 21.—The mystery surrounding the murder of Mrs. Fannie Porter, who was found in a room at Jackson and Market streets with her throat cut, was cleared up last evening by the arrest and confession of William Van Dalsen. Van Dalsen was found at the home of a relative at New Albany, Ind. He admitted killing Mrs. Porter, of whom he was enamored. The bloody razor was found in Van Dalsen's possession. Van Dalsen's only defense was that he and the woman quarreled, and that she drew the razor from her stocking, whereupon he wrested it from her and cut her throat. The police, however, assert that the prisoner was afraid the woman would divulge secrets of his career, one of which was that Dalsen deserted from the navy.

PRISONER SUICIDED.
Carlisle, Ky., September 21.—William Desha, who murdered Walter Harris sometime ago, died in the county jail last night from poison, self administered.

SIX MEN KILLED.
Houston, Texas, September 21.—Lightning struck a tank of the Texas Oil Refinery on the Texas coast today, killing six men who were firing the tank.

CAR KILLS MANY.
Record of Eighteen Dead and 100 Hurt Since July 1 Is Shown.

New York.—Eighteen persons have been killed and more than one hundred others injured by Brooklyn trolleys since July 1. The deaths have averaged nearly two a week and the accidents have been of such frequent occurrence that a general feeling of indignation has been aroused, which promises to find expression in a public protest to city officials.

HERRICK IS THE NEW YORK NOMINEE

Democrats in Empire State
Finally Got Together.

Up to This Morning the Warring Factions Could Not Reach any Agreement.

THE PLATFORM WAS ADOPTED

Saratoga, Sept. 21.—There is plenty of excitement in the corridors of the Grand Hotel today and all sorts of talk is current as to the outcome of the day's convention. When the convention assembled today Permanent Chairman Lee delivered a speech which pleased the delegates.

The platform adopted denounces "Odellism" in New York and is largely devoted to state issues, the democratic national platform and the candidates endorsed. Just before the convention was called to order it was announced that in a conference of factional leaders the ticket agreed upon was satisfactory to all. The head of the ticket will be Justice D. Cady Herrick, Albany, Lieutenant Governor, Francis Burton Harrison, New York. There was great applause when Senator Hill arose to place his old political enemy, Justice Herrick, in nomination for governor. When Hill concluded the secretary was instructed to cast the ballot of the convention for Herrick. Harrison was nominated for lieutenant governor. There is every indication that the entire slate, which is said to be approved by Judge Parker, will go through.

MANY TO GO.
Pilgrimages to Rome Will Take Many People There.

Rome.—Pilgrimages from all parts of Europe are expected here in the next three months to solemnize the semi-centennial of the proclamation of the immaculate conception. France alone will furnish thousands, who are coming to Rome in divisions, the first being received by the pope last week.

In Austria, Germany, Spain, and England committees are organizing expeditions, not to speak of Italy, from every province of which a special delegation is to come.

Assurances have been received at the Vatican that at the beginning of December a large number of American Catholic priests and laymen, accompanied by several bishops, will arrive to witness the final festivities of the jubilee, which will culminate with the crowning of the Virgin's statue in St. Peter's by the pope himself.

Extraordinary preparations have been made for the reception of the pilgrims. The hospice of Santa Martha, in the rear of St. Peter's, has been fitted up at great expense in order to accommodate as many as possible of the pope's visitors. A spacious dining room, with a capacity of 2,000, has been erected, and new dormitories and many private bedrooms prepared for those whose slender purses will not allow them to stay at the hotels and boarding houses.

THE MARKET HOUSE

GEORGE KATTERJOHN GOT THE CONTRACT TODAY.

The public improvement committee of the general council this afternoon at 3 o'clock met at the city hall and opened bids for the new market house. There were three, as follows:
George Katterjohn, Paducah, $20,000.
Danlap & Company, Paducah, $20,292.
Barwick Construction Company, St. Louis, $21,280.

Mr. Katterjohn gets the contract, subject to the ratification of the council.
The Barwick Company had the lowest bid when bids were opened a short time ago.

BISHOP'S SUCCESSOR.
Rev. D. C. Wright and Mr. Muscoe Burnett are in Louisville representing Grace Episcopal church at a meeting to be held today to select a successor to the late Bishop Dudley.

This motto is displayed in a Boston downtown desk: "The elevator to success is generally stuck; try the stairs."

THE CORONATION OF KING PETER

Impressive Ceremony Passed off Successfully.

Many Troops Lined the Principal Streets Traversed By the Royal Procession Today.

DOUKHOBORS START OUT AGAIN

Belgrade, Sept. 21.—Peter I. was crowned king of Serbia today. The ceremony went off smoothly without an untoward incident. The garrison augmented by troops from the provinces in all about twenty-five thousand, lined the streets through which the royal procession passed. The services at the cathedral where the coronation occurred were impressive.

DOUKHOBORS AGAIN OUT.
Rosthern, Northwest Territory, Sept. 21.—The Doukhobors, those Russian religious fanatics, have again created excitement among the Canadian settlers by once more leaving their agricultural pursuits and starting on a pilgrimage in search of the messiah. Several were arrested in an attempt to break up the pilgrimage.

UNION REVIVAL

Large Congregations and Fine Sermons.

The Interest Is Becoming Greater
Every Day.

The meeting for women and young ladies held by Rev. Holcomb yesterday afternoon, was the most impressive thus far held; the large audience room was comfortably filled, and no men except the pastors of the various churches were present; the audience was representative of the best womanhood of the city.

Mr. Holcomb gave a short but very helpful talk on "The Influence of Woman, in the home, in society, and the church; as wives, mothers, sisters, and sweethearts," after which an invitation to the backslidden and unsaved was given, and one conversion was the result.

He then invited every woman that would promise the various pastors present, that they would use their influence to "remove everything that was in the way of the progress of Christianity from their homes, and lives" to come forward and give them their hands; probably two hundred women did so, others promising the same, by raising their hands.

The evening service was largely attended; Prof. McKensie sang "What Shall It Profit Thee, Then?" and the chorus singing was unusually fine. The text was Mark 8:36-37 "For What Shall It Profit a Man, if He Shall Gain the Whole World, and Lose His Own Soul? Or What Shall a Man Give in Exchange for His Soul?"

Jesus does not imply that a man can "gain the whole world" but in comparison with such an impossibility, were it possible—the loss of the soul would be the poorest kind of a bargain. Jesus does not imply that if a man does honestly gain a part of this world, he must of necessity lose his soul; but, he does mean that in gaining any part of this world we must not do it at the expense of the "life."

There are three things that this world has for man; wealth, honor and pleasure; and a man can make each of them, or all, his God—the end of his existence; the purpose of his living; and lose, not only, this life, but the life to come.

The day meeting will be held at 4 p. m. heretofore instead of 10:30 a. m. This change was made at the urgent request of many ladies, and it is hoped will bring out larger day audiences.

Dr. William Owen has gone to the world's fair.

ONLY A FEW VETS FROM PADUCAH

Smaller Attendance Than Anticipated at Earlington.

Many Noted Speakers On Hand—
Local Camp of Veterans Met Last Night.

THE BUSINESS TRANSACTED

This morning Messrs. J. V. Greif, B. H. Scott, of Paducah; W. R. Owens, of Graves County; T. H. Hall, of Oak Level, Marshall county; Hardin Wade, of Benton, left for Earlington to attend the reunion of Confederate Veterans of the Second Brigade, Kentucky division.

It was originally intended that more veterans from Paducah go, but they could not find time to leave their duties. The reunion will be one of the biggest ever held and will last two days.

Mr. G. Fondaw, of McCracken county, an old confederate veteran, left this morning with the local delegation for Pee Wee Valley to enter the home for confederate veterans there.

There are probably 300 veterans in attendance, with 100 visitors. The speakers for the reunion include some of the most noted orators in Kentucky, who will address the veterans on subjects most interesting to them on this occasion. The speaking will not be of a political character. Those who have agreed to speak so far are: Major General Bennett H. Young, General Basil Duke, Hon. James B. McCreary, Hon. Jo Blackburn, Hon. W. J. Stone, Kuttawa, Hon. John P. Lockett, Henderson; Hon. Henry George, Wingo;

James Walbert Camp met last night and voted $50 to the local Daughters of the Confederacy to assist in entertaining the state meeting next month.

An invitation was extended by the camp to Major C. W. Anderson, of Tennessee, who was inspector general of Forrest's Brigade during the war, to come to Paducah during the Daughters of the Confederacy meeting and be a guest of the local camp of veterans.

Last night lists were prepared and ordered turned over to Mrs. D. G. Murrell, historian of the local Daughters of the Confederacy, of all veterans who have died or been buried in this section in past years, of all living veterans about the city, and of all who were mentioned during the war for meritorious service.

Mr. T. B. Jones, formerly of Company B, Second Kentucky Cavalry, was admitted as a new member.

EYE BADLY HURT.

Tommie Dodson, an employee of the Kilgore Heading Factory got a sliver of wood in his left eye this morning. The wood was removed by Dr. J. S. Troutman, and the eyesight is probably not permanently impaired.

FALL "OFFICIALLY" BEGINS.

This is the first of autumn according to the calendar, and the cool nights are beginning to be felt. No very cool weather is expected this month, however, and farmers predict that there will be no frost until possibly the middle of October.

TOBACCO SALES TODAY.

The regular tobacco sales are in progress today, with prospects of sales reaching 300 or 350. The prices are good with few rejections.

In the opinion of Judge Pryor, expressed to the September grand jury, carrying concealed weapons and sale of intoxicants to minors are largely responsible for crime in Louisville.

Charles Sullivan was held without bail to answer to the charge of murdering J. E. T. Fitzgerald, the city hospital nurse. Clyde Jones and Harvey Wilson were dismissed.

At Fort Blackman, Va., a drunken youth shot his mother to death because she objected to his firing his pistol in an adjoining room.

JOHN AUSTIN IS STILL DEMENTED

Claims He Was Assaulted in Paducah Over Week ago.

Is Now Apparently Better But His Mind Still Wanders Most of the Time.

CONDITION STILL CRITICAL

Vicksburg, Miss., Sept. 21.—After lying in a hopelessly maddened and semi-maniacal condition since his admission to the State Charity hospital last Friday evening, John Austin, the Paducah man who wandered into Bank's drug store in a dazed and stupefied condition last Thursday, has experienced a partial return of reason and memory.

In perfectly rational, though disjointed sentences, in reply to questions by Surgeon Martin, he relates how he had been accosted by two young men on one of the streets of Paducah, Ky., yesterday a week ago, while he was on his way to a train to meet his wife, whom he expected.

The men under pretext of wishing to find some location, lured him on toward the river, across the levee, and it was whilst between the levee and the river bank that he was sandbagged and knocked into a state of insensibility. He could remember nothing more except that his injury happened on a Tuesday. That fact was firmly fixed in his memory. Another feature of his hallucination all the time and up to the time that he entered Mr. Bank's store, and ever up to yesterday morning, was that he was in Paducah and not in Vicksburg.

As to how he reached here he remembers absolutely nothing. Austin believes that the attack on him grew out of a case of mistaken identity owing to his very close resemblance to the other man on the Paducah police force, against whom certain parties there had entertained some grudge or grievance.

Yesterday afternoon at the request of the Chief of Police, Mr. J. F. McIntyre, who knows everybody in Paducah, drove out to this place and had no difficulty in recognizing the patient as John Austin, well and favorably known to every one in the Kentucky town.

While in a brighter mental condition the unfortunate man is still in a very precarious condition, and will require close watching and careful treatment for some days to come.

It is evident from the above special received this morning by the Sun that Patrol Driver Austin is still wandering in mind and memory. He certainly was not assaulted in Paducah, for a number of people saw him board the train, and he talked to Officer Aaron Hurley just before leaving. Others saw and talked to him on the train. When he more fully recovers he may be able to give a more coherent account of how he got hurt.

WILL MEET SATURDAY.

Telegrams were today received from Civil Engineer Paul and Mr. John Crump, of East St. Louis, and Columbus, Ind., respectively, stating that they would reach Paducah Saturday, and a meeting of the promoters of the Paducah-Cairo Electric Railway will be held here Saturday forenoon to transact important business.

The grand jury at Huntsville, Ala., recommended the impeachment of the mayor, sheriff, chief of police and a reorganization of the police force. The action followed an investigation of the recent lynching of the negro Makler.

5,000 ARE EXPECTED AT BIG MEETING

Tobacco Growers to Hold Meeting
Next Saturday.

Will Take Steps To Protect Themselves From the Trust—Big Speakers Are Going.

POLITICS LIKELY TO A RISE

Clarksville, Tenn., September 21.—Everything is in shipshape for the big tobacco mass meeting at Guthrie, Ky., Saturday, and the planters of the Clarksville dark tobacco district are aroused as never before to the necessity for concerted action and immediate organization in behalf of better prices for the weed.

It is predicted that the attendance Saturday will be fully 5,000, representing many counties in Tennessee and Kentucky. Congressman John Wesley Gaines and several other speakers of note will be present, and that something definite will be done now seems certain. The farmers are, too, forming their county and district organizations.

So confident are the planters that plans will be adopted which will enable them to hold their crops for better prices this year than last, that they are already feeling elated over what they consider good prospects for an advance along this line.

As yet no question of politics has entered into the matter, but it likely soon will be, as it is openly admitted by the Democrats now that the tobacco trust is for Parker and Davis, and is spending money to elect them. Many tobacco raisers are declaring that they will support no ticket or candidates that are for the tobacco trust, or whom the tobacco trust is for.

OFFICERS ELECTED

GRAND LODGE OF ODD FELLOWS FINISHED UP ITS WORK.

San Francisco, September 21.—The Sovereign Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows elected the following:
Grand Sire—Robert E. Wright, Allentown, Pa.
Deputy—E. S. Conway, Chicago.
Secretary—J. Frank Grant, Baltimore.

Treasurer—M. Richard Muckie, Philadelphia.
Choice of meeting place for the next sovereign grand lodge was postponed.

HEAVY REBATES

HAVE TO BE MADE NOW THAT PINK SLIP IS OFF.

The insurance men who were instructed that the "pink slip" had been removed from Paducah policies dating back to the first of the month, have been kept busy refunding, and Mr. C. O. Rose, insurance inspector, is a very busy man.

Mr. Rose has to check up all the work and certify it, and says the amount does already is enormous and that he will not be able to tell the extent of refunding in dollars and cents until a week or longer.

NEW SECRETARY

COUNTY BOARD OF HEALTH
ELECTS DR. FRANK BOYD IN PLACE OF DR. P. H.
STEWART.

The county board of health yesterday afternoon held a meeting and elected Dr. P. H. Stewart secretary of the board and county health officer, to succeed Dr. Frank Boyd.

The county board is composed of Drs. Boyd, H. T. Rivers, P. H. Stewart, and County Judge Lightfoot and County Attorney Eugene Graves. The latter became members recently. Judge Lightfoot by virtue of recent legislation and County Attorney Eugene Graves by election of fiscal court.

Will Run for President and Secretary of K. I. T.

He Says The Records Show That Cairo Won the Pennant and Meeting Must Be Held There.

OTHER LATE BASEBALL GOSSIP

Although the baseball season is closed, no less interest is now being taken in K. I. T. league news in the dispute over the pennant than was taken in the contest itself, and many are wondering how the middle will be decided. The president of the league claims that the records of games played show that Paducah won the pennant, and the secretary, who actually has the records, declares that Cairo has won it according to the records. He moreover insists that the final meeting is to be held Sunday in Cairo, and has sent out notices to that effect. So far as the controversy is concerned, the Sun is for Paducah, and hopes Paducah will win, but the secretary is the only person who has all the records, and if he doesn't know what he is talking about, he ought to. The Cairo Bulletin, presumably speaking by authority of Secretary Farnbaker, says:

"Secretary Farnbaker has already sent out notices, being the only person tested with the authority under the constitution to issue notices, for the fall meeting on next Sunday at the Halliday House, Cairo, Ill., as provided in the constitution in the city winning the championship, which championship shall be determined by the records, they being the 'sole evidence in the matter,' and as the 'sole evidence in the matter' shows upon its face that Cairo has won the pennant, the meeting will be held here. Secretary Farnbaker will in this instance as in the past stand upon the constitution. He has further invited in his notice, all the league members to bring their score and account books, so that the records can be verified. He holds something like $650 of ready cash belonging to the league, $400 of which recently came into his possession through the sale of players which will be turned over to the members of the league upon the settlement of a few preliminaries at next Sunday's meeting."

Secretary Farnbaker's project for forming an independent league for next season has evidently fallen through, as the Cairo Bulletin announces that he is going to run again not only for secretary, but for president also, of the K. I.

T. league. Here is what it says:

"Mr. M. J. Farnbaker, the present efficient secretary of the league, has announced that he will ask for both the presidency and secretaryship of the K. I. T. league next year. It is customary in the larger leagues for one person to hold both offices. Secretary Farnbaker has sold less than five at an advance over the draft price and in addition has the contracts and cash to show as the result of his recent trip to St. Louis and Minneapolis, with more yet to hear from. He further, last winter, when everybody was hugging their stoves, was out hustling baseball with the result that he saved the league something like $850 in baseballs, all those used by the entire league the past season being a present from A. G. Spalding Bros., through the efforts of the secretary."

SHUSTER IS O. K.

The following from the St. Paul Pioneer shows how Umpire Shuster is making good in the American association, the game referred to being between St. Paul and Kansas City:

"There was a new umpire, J. F. Shuster, formerly of the K. I. T. league, and he made a hit with the fans. His decisions were good, and he had a jaunty manner of indicating that he meant what he said. When a pitcher didn't think a decision on balls and strikes was right, two waves of the palm of his hand, Chinmike Fadden fashion, indicated what he thought was wrong. If a player protested at a close decision there were two Chinmike Fadden pokes of the extended index finger of the right hand toward the player, and the place where Shuster wanted him to be. Manager Kelley was inquisitive in the eighth inning, when Marcan was called out at third for O'Brien's interference while Frantz was recovering Butler's wild throw to the bleachers, protested, mildly enough, but waited for the third poke. It was toward the bench, and Sullivan covered first for the Saints in the ninth inning."

The Vincennes Capital says:

"There will be a wholesale throwing out of games in the city of Cairo Sunday, September 23, when the league officials meet if either Cairo or Paducah attempt to change the Kitty league standing, on the grounds of protest, etc. At most every club in the league has broken Kitty rules in the playing of games and if the constitution of the league is lived up to, to the letter there will be a big change in the standing of the teams. As most of the games Clarksville played were played with the service of Pettit who is owned by Vincennes, practically all of her games would be thrown out. Long an outlaw, played with Paducah and these games would be thrown out. The game Goodwin pitched for Paducah would be thrown out. The games in which Cross and Minor figured with Cairo would be thrown out and many others would also go. Pettit played in perhaps 100 games and if all these are thrown out there is no telling where the pennant would go nor where the teams would stand. The result of the meeting is anxiously awaited and it is expected to be the most interesting occurrence in the history of baseball."

This is the last week of the Southern League baseball season. The final game will be played in New Orleans next Sunday with Montgomery. The race for the pennant is very close and exciting between the first three clubs—New Orleans, Memphis and Atlanta. Only two points separate New Orleans and Memphis. The showing of Memphis has been the surprise of the season, that club gradually working up from seventh to first place, and an excellent chance to hand the pennant. New Orleans had until yesterday led the race since the season began with the exception of two days, when it was tied for second place. The season will be a successful one. All clubs will make money with exception of Montgomery and Shreveport. The article of ball served was the best in the history of the league.

Whitely of Vincennes, has been drafted by Clark Griffith of the New York American league team and first payment made on the regular draft price of $200 for players in class D. The second and final payment, in case the drafted player makes good is made either on or before June 1 or in default thereof return the player to the club from which he was drafted.

The Cairo Bulletin contains this remarkable bit of fiction: "Grover Land, of Paducah, caught two innings with Pittsburg in the game Saturday at St. Louis with the Cardinals. He was at bat only once, making a neat two-bagger, threw two men out by a wide margin when they attempted to steal the second sack, had no passed ball, and made a beautiful catch of a foul up against the back-stop, which evoked the plaudits of the spectators, yet after this brilliant work which was warmly complimented by Captain Manager Fred Clarke, a release was handed to Land by Barney Dreyfus without a word of explanation. And what makes the matter all the more inexplicable Dreyfus paid Saturday the first $100 installment on the draft price."

As a matter of fact, Land, according to his own statement, didn't catch at all for Pittsburg.

Dr. Irving Thompson, president of the K. I. T. league, is a candidate for reelection at the meeting to be held here or at Cairo next Sunday.

For two seasons Dr. Thompson has held the high position and the success of the little league reflects credit on him proud of the league's record. It is a fact that the "Kitty" is prominent all over the country. Recently a representative as an official. He naturally feels very of Spalding was talking to President Thompson and the latter was asked how a league with such small cities had made a success. He further remarked that it was the surprise of the last two years in baseball circles over the country. Dr. Thompson has made an excellent president and never been reversed in his rulings by National Secretary Farrell.

This year Dr. Thompson has opposition for the presidency. League Secretary M. J. Farnbaker, of Cairo, is out for the secretaryship and presidency both. It is a question whether these two offices will be combined by the league members, as some may think it would throw too much responsibility and power in one man's hands. Mr. Farnbaker is a secretary of ability. He knows baseball and has been a big help to the league.

WHO IS SECRETARY OF THE K. I. T.?

At a recent meeting of members of the league held at Henderson, Ky., it was claimed that M. J. Farnbaker was named as secretary and President Hancock, of the Hopkinsville association, elected temporary secretary. President Irving Thompson says that Mr. Hancock is secretary and will serve at the meeting called at Paducah next Sunday. He says Mr. Farnbaker has had no connection with the league for several weeks and what he is doing now will not be recognized. The president doubts if Mr. Farnbaker could get a solitary vote for any position in the league.

Pursuant to an order of the United States District court, at Paducah, Ky., entered on the 10th day of September, 1904, in the above styled actions, I will on Wednesday, September 28, 1904, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the port of Paducah, Ky., sell to the highest and best bidder, for one half cash in hand, the balance on a credit of four months, with interest at 6 per cent from date of sale until paid, the purchaser to give bond for deferred payments, with approved security, to the clerk of this court at Paducah, Ky., having the force and effect of a replevin bond at law, the Steamer Chattanooga, her engines, tackle, apparel, furniture, etc., to satisfy the claims in this action. The purchaser, if he chooses, may pay the entire purchase price in cash. A. D. JAMES, U. S. M. W. D. KY. By GEO. W. SAUNDERS, Deputy.

SPRAINS.

S. A. Read, Clinch, Texas, writes, March 11th, 1901: "My wrist was sprained so badly by a fall that it was useless; and after using several remedies that failed to give relief, used Ballard's Snow Liniment, and was cured. I earnestly recommend it to any one suffering from sprains." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by DuBois, Kolb & Co.

WHY YOU SHOULD TAKE*WINE of CARDUI

Wine of Cardui is a mild medicine, but a powerful tonic that is unrivalled in its success in the treatment of the diseases peculiar to women.

Over 1,500,000 suffering women have been cured of troubles that ordinarily are thought to require the expensive treatment of specialists, simply by taking this great woman's tonic.

Wine of Cardui recommends itself to modest women of moderate means, because it can be taken in the privacy of the home without submitting to a humiliating local examination and subsequent dangerous treatment.

The treatment is not costly and every sufferer can afford it.

If you are a victim of female weakness in any form Wine of Cardui is the medicine that you should take and you cannot afford to lose any time in starting the treatment. Your trouble is ever growing worse—never better.

Wine of Cardui never fails to benefit even chronic troubles of the most serious nature, and in nine out of ten cases it brings an absolute cure. 1,500,000 cured women endorse Wine of Cardui.

You should take Wine of Cardui. Ask your druggist for it today.

COULD HAVE STOOD THE HAMBERGER

$20 Damages Given Charles Norwood by Judge Lightfoot.

Objection to the Smell of Hamberger Caused the Breach of Contract. Said Vlaholeas.

WAS AN AMUSING TRIAL

County Judge R. T. Lightfoot this morning tried the case of Charles Norwood against Jim Vlaholeas, for $100 damages for alleged breach of contract. The case was tried in Justice Young's court first and a judgment for a few dollars returned. The case was then taken to quarterly court. During the trial this morning the defendant stated the reason he refused to permit Norwood with whom he had contracted to sell Hamberger steaks at Wallace park to sell the steaks was that the Dutchman who ran the theatre objected to the smell.

Judge Lightfoot remarked that, "It was the Dutch who originated this steak and it would surprise me just as much for a Dutchman to refuse to object to a glass of beer as the smell of Hamberger steaks."

The attorney for Vlaholeas remarked that it was probably the audiences at the theatre that objected, and not the Dutchman running the theatre.

"Well," the court remarked, "if the public can stand the class of shows the park theatre afforded the fore part of the season when this breach of contract is alleged to have occurred, then it certainly wouldn't object to the smell of a Hamberger sandwich."

"I guess you are right," the attorney replied, as he arose to go.

Judgment for $20 damages to the plaintiff," the judge stated, as he slammed his book together and reached for his hat.

BOND COMPANY

Will Not be Called on for the $100.

Treasurer Marquis Will Himself Make It Up—Railroad Notes.

Last night the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen held a meeting and investigated the robbery of C. M. Marquis the brotherhood treasurer.

Mr. Marquis has on his bond the American Surety Co., of New York, and the shortage has been reported to the bond company. Mr. Marquis will make up the $100 stolen from him, however, without the aid of the bond company.

This morning all material for the water tank to be located near the old dispatcher's offices in the local I. C. south yards, arrived and was unloaded. Mr. Clarence Knowles, superintendent of water supply of the Louisville division of the road, will oversee the work of putting up the tank and expects to have it up in a week or two.

William Barnhill, a car repairer employed in the local I. C. shops, was injured yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock. He was handling a side bearing when he dropped it on his right foot, mashing the member badly. He will be disabled for some time.

The pay car left last night for Cairo to pay off on the Cairo extension and the Cairo district of the road. It will work up from Fulton to Mayfield and then go south again. Last night the merchants all did an excellent business. The railroad trade is a big item and last night he sales were exceedingly large and outdid some Saturday nights.

OPENS IN MARSHALL

HON. J. WILL GRAHAM WILL MAKE A NUMBER OF SPEECHES THERE.

Hon. J. Will Graham, of Paducah, left today for Marshall county to make speeches for the Populist ticket. He expects to make a tour of the county. Among other things he carried a Courier-Journal showing that the tobacco trust is for Parker and Davis, and is putting up money to elect them. He says there will not be many farmers who raise tobacco in this district who vote the Democratic ticket when he gets through with them. They are against anything that the tobacco trust is for, he declares.

IN THE FAR WEST

Son of a Famous Confederate General Dies.

Hancock Johnston, Son of Albert Sydney Johnston, Dies at Age of 57.

The Los Angeles papers of September 13 announce the death in that city on the 12th instant, of Hancock M. Johnston, the only surviving son of Gen. Albert Sydney Johnston, in the 57th year of his age. Mr. Johnston, on the death of his father at Shiloh, was but fifteen years old, having remained in California with his mother, brothers and sisters, when his father came from the Pacific coast overland to join the Confederate army, and resided there until his death. He developed into a man of marked strength of character, with many of the sturdy features of his father. Self-made, he early rose to a commanding position in the community in which he lived and was a pioneer in the early development of Los Angeles and the adjacent territory.

In 1875, in connection with his uncle, Dr. John S. Griffin, he was the owner of several thousand acres of land near there, including the site of Pasadena and the many orchards and vineyards about there and Los Angeles. He laid off and developed East Los Angeles, now an important part of the city, and had several ranches on which he raised fine horses and other fine stock. The financial crisis of the latter eighties swept away much of his accumulations, and in 1892 he was afflicted with inflammatory rheumatism and articular paralysis, which rendered him an invalid until his death. He was well known in Kentucky, which he had several times visited and where he had a number of relatives.

Mr. Johnston leaves surviving him his wife, formerly Miss Mary Eaton, and three grown sons, Albert Sidney, John Griffin and Hancock M. Johnston, Jr.

Theatrical Notes

"Ben Bolt, the Sailor," a new play elegantly staged and ably interpreted, was the offering at the Kentucky theatre last night by the Frank Dudley Company. It deserved a crowded house, but the business was only fair. The public is letting slip an opportunity to see the best repertoire company ever seen in Paducah. It carries twenty-one people, a car load of scenery, and plays only new plays. Those who have attended the performances are delighted and the house should be packed every night. Mr. Dudley, in "Ben Bolt," last night duplicated the success of the preceding night, and his support was faultless. It is the most evenly balanced popular price company ever in Paducah, and tonight's bill should be enjoyed by a large crowd. It will be "The Man From Mexico."

Miss Leo Dale Ingraham, one of the members of the Dudley Stock Company playing at the Kentucky here, enjoys the honor and distinction of being one of the only three female members of the Eagles in the World. She was made an honorary member at Corsicana, Texas, a few years ago, and needless to say is proud of the tribute to her ability in the profession, and her worthiness as a woman. Miss Ingraham has a number of friends in Paducah who remember her as a member of the Al Phillips Company at La Belle Park eight years ago. This company is now widely scattered, and Mr. Phillips is one of New York's most popular leading men, playing at present in "The White Tigress of Japan." The Eagles is an order composed largely of theatrical people, but in recent years extended to good people in other walks of life. An aerio was to have been established in Paducah recently, but for some reason fell through.

Prof. Harry Gilbert, the pianist, has moved from Madison street near Fifth, to 124 South Seventh, and has set up a studio. Prof. Gilbert has done little "recreation playing" since his return from Berlin, Germany, where he completed a thorough course in music, because of his duties at the several churches he plays, but will in a few days have a little time and hopes to see his friends at his studio. Prof. Gilbert has always aided in every musical benefit given in Paducah and his many friends on account of his urgent duties have been unable to hear him play but now have that opportunity.

Mr. Adolph Weil has returned from St. Louis.

CROP REPORT

VEGETATION SUFFERS SOME FROM A LIGHT FROST.

The following is the Kentucky crop report:

The temperature averaged considerably below the normal for the week. Light frosts were reported in many localities on the 15th and 16th. Tender vegetation suffered a little, but no serious damage was caused by the frost.

Local showers occurred over the greater portion of the state from the 13th to the 14th, and again on the 18th. The rainfall was generally light, but in some places it was moderately heavy. In the central and north central portion of the state the drought has become quite severe, water for stock being very scarce.

In the localities visited by showers plowing for winter wheat has advanced well and sowing is in progress. If the weather is favorable, a large acreage will be sown.

Tobacco cutting has progressed satisfactorily and quite a portion of the crop is in the barn. In some localities slight damage was caused by frost, but the area affected is small.

Corn has not matured as rapidly as was expected, on account of showers and cool weather. It has deteriorated to some extent and will be somewhat below the average in yield; this is due to the effect of drought on the late planting. The early fields are generally very fine.

Winter apples have continued to drop and the yield will be light and quality very poor.

In some localities visited by local showers pastures have improved, but they are badly dried up in others.

Irish and sweet potatoes are quite good, but garden vegetables have dried up and are becoming scarce.

Hemp is turning out rather better than expected, and millet and sorghum are quite good.

Farm work is well up with the exception of plowing, which has been delayed by dry weather.

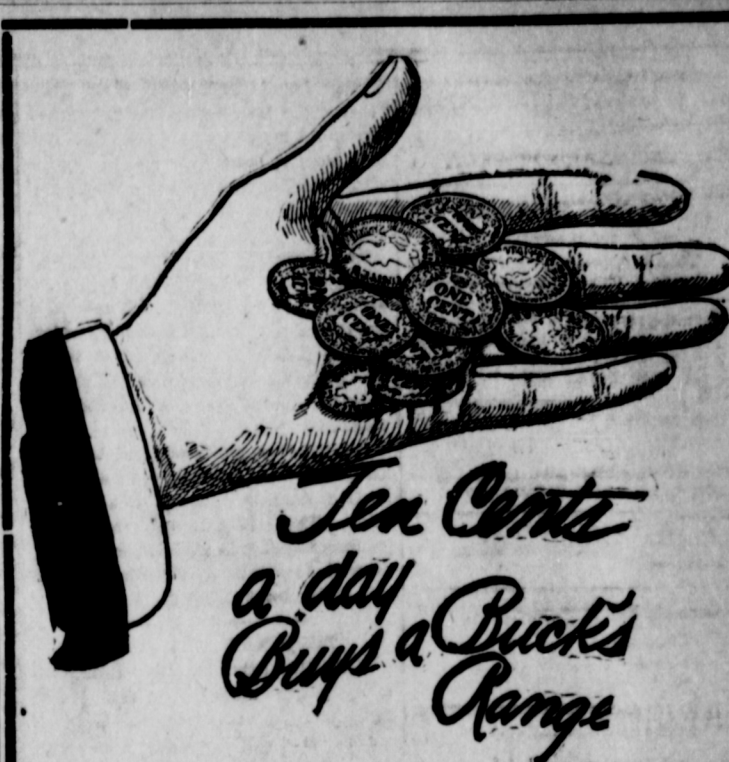

GOOD TIME

EXPECTED BY THE DOCTORS AT MAYFIELD NEXT MONTH.

The semi-annual meeting of the Southwestern Medical Society will be held in Mayfield on October 25, and many Paducah doctors will be in attendance.

Several Paducah doctors are going to be on the programme for papers. The hospitality of the Graves county doctors can not be beaten and a good time is in store for the visitors.

Miss Mattie Brown, of Barren county, killed herself by eating ground glass and tacks.

You can get your Buck's Heater on the same terms. Better heaters were never made than Buck's.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

For Congress.

Hon. J. C. Speight, of Graves county

DAILY THOUGHT.

Associate a great deal with young people; take a lively interest in their hopes and ambitions, and enter into their sports with enthusiasm.

THE WEATHER.

Fair and cooler tonight, with frost in the mountainous sections. Fair and cooler Thursday.

NEEDED—A LITTLE HARMONY.

It is time for the general council and the board of public works to get together. They should hold a peace conference and decide on what powers each possesses and then each try to confine itself to a discharge of its legitimate duties under the charter. Owing to the apparent conflict in the second class charter it is not plain exactly what powers
the board of works possesses and until some sort of an agreement is reached,
there will always be more or less conflict and delay in the transaction of public business that comes within the jurisdiction of these boards. Right now the public is being treated to one of the results of this clash of authority, in the continued delay in erecting the market house.

That there is further danger of dis-ension and delay is attested by the fact that the president of the board of works Monday night threw down the gambit to the council by declaring that the board would hereafter enforce its rights and prerogatives. What this means is not clear, but until the boards come together on some common ground and make a compact that has for its object the prompt transaction of public business, the public will be the loser.

Really, the board of works seems to be a patient, tolerant body of men, or it would have revolted before. The council has taken from its hands successively
the city hospital and market house projects although the board of works has never conceded the council's right to do so.

The truth is the general council overestimates its own importance. As to the market house matter, the board of works may really have had a good case against the general council had it chose to push it.

The second-class charter says the board of public works "shall have charge, control, and supervision of the city's gas, electric light works, wharves, parks and market house."

The power of the board of works thus depends on the meaning of the word "control," "charge," etc. The general council claims the word "control" means very little. What the "control" in the charter means no one may ever know, but it is easy enough to see what "control" means in the dictionary. The charter says the board shall "have charge of," "control," and "supervision."
Each means something a little different.

If the board had only been given
"charge of" the market house, the statute might have stopped with that; if it had merely been expected to "supervise," the statute should have stopped there. But it goes further and says
"control."

The board is also given "control," whatever that is, of all the streets, as well as other things. Yet a few days ago one of the council committees undertook to give written instructions to the street inspector, who under the charter is under the direction of the board of works.

Get together, gentlemen, get together.
Find out what each has to do and then do it without interfering with one another. There is good work enough to go around and give you all plenty to do, as well as greatly benefit the town, if you really want to do it.

THROTTLE THIS GRAFT.

With the administration trying to take money voted by the people for public improvements, to pay off debts of the administration for which money has already been collected, and if it is not in the treasury, been illegally spent, the general council tacitly admits its need of money.

If the city wants the $2,000 to pay Mr.
Terrell, why doesn't it collect the $3,000
from the telephone company, and use part of that? This $3,000 was merely a steal under the forms of law in the first place, but since the telephone company,
for reasons best known to itself, stood up and delivered, the city might as well use the $3,000 to advantage, instead of closing its eyes to a deliberate attempt to hold out $1,250 of this by an attorney who was not authorized to compromise the city's claims against the telephone company. It makes no difference what obligations the mayor and members of the general council may feel under to this attorney for political services rendered last fall in the municipal campaign, it does not justify them in brazenly giving away $1,250 of the people's money, which they all seem to be trying to do.

The claim that the attorney has a contract for half whatever amount he collected from the telephone company, is without foundation. There is not a line in the records to prove it. The city did agree to pay the firm of which he was a member half fifty per cent. of whatever pole rent it collected, but this is all.
The total amount of pole rent claimed by the city from this telephone company was less than $800. The $3,000 covers city licenses, wagon licenses, franchise taxes, a few other things, and the pole rental tax. The city solicitor could have framed up the hold-up as easily as anyone else had he been instructed to confound with the telephone company relative to a compromise, but the truth is,
the thing seems to have been quietly arranged by an outside attorney, who got it fixed to suit himself, and then went before the general council to have the deal put through. It was greased and oiled, looked like easy money to the general council, and the council agreed to accept it. It never agreed to pay anyone half of it, however, and if it did, $1,250 is not half of $3,000. If the attorney is entitled, to half of it, why doesn't he claim $1,500 instead of only $1,250?

Neither the mayor nor any member of the general council can produce a single scratch or scrap to show that any attorney is entitled to $1,250 or any other part of this $3,000 compromise except whatever part covers the pole rents claimed from the telephone company, which can't possibly be over $800, or $400 for the attorney. If the administration desires to give this $1,250 away,
why do not the members of the general council come out openly and above board like men and vote it to the attorney, instead of trying to hoodwink the taxpayers with the absurd claim that he is entitled to it under a contract—a contract that doesn't exist? The Sun intends to show up the whole graft, and prove to the people how public money is wantonly squandered in Paducah, especially when it is steered for the pockets of a favored few.

When the farmers go to cast their votes in November, they should remember that a vote for Parker and Davis is a vote for the tobacco trust. The democratic organs themselves admit that the tobacco trust is for Parker and Davis, and that it has contributed to the democratic campaign fund.

If the administration owes any of its orators of last fall's campaign anything the officials should pay it out of their own pockets, not the people's pockets.

The democrats are sure they are going to carry New York, Indiana, Illinois, and a few other states too numerous to mention, but then they are always sure before the election.

The mayor is very positive, according to reports, that he will see that $2,000 is not drawn from the bond fund to pay for street work done before the bond was floated. He might also get busy to keep $1,250 of the city's money from being given away. Furthermore, it's his duty to do it.

PARKER'S FILIPINO STRADDLE.

(From the N. Y. Press.)

In place of a government by Filipinos assisted by Americans Judge Parker favors a government by Filipinos assisted by Filipinos.—Parker Organ.

How do you know he does? You could not know from anything he said in his speech of acceptance. Therein he said the best thing to do with the Filipinos was to prepare them "as rapidly as possible for self-government and give to them assurances that it will come as soon as they are reasonably prepared for it." Nor could you know from his equally evasive letter to Mr. Milburn, which you prodded him into writing with your taunts that his position as to the Philippines was the same as Mr. Roosevelt's.
In that letter he did not say, as the Democratic platform says, he is in favor of immediate freedom and independence for the Filipinos. If he were "in hearty accord" with the St. Louis platform promise to settle the island,
he would have approved and adopted
the whole language of the platform.
Philippine plank. He adopted only a part of it. And he qualified that part of it by saying he was in favor of making the promise of setting the Filipinos free and independent. "As soon as it can be prudently done."

There is as much virtue, or vice, as the case may be—it all depends on the point of view—in this straddling phrase as there is in an IE. We challenge Mr.
Parker to say, in his letter of acceptance that he is in favor of "a government by Filipinos assisted by Filipinos," or something equally unequivocal, as the anti-imperialist organs would have him say, but which so far he has not dared to say for fear of driving away the votes of Democrats who believe in Mr.
Roosevelt.

REPUBLICAN HOPE IN MISSOURI

(From the Kansas City Journal.)

If St. Louis goes Republican by 20, 1000 or 30,000 instead of Democratic by a big margin, the result will have an important bearing on the general vote of the state. It is understood that the personal popularity of President Roosevelt, coupled with the disgust and dissatisfaction over the work of the Belmont and Hill convention, has had a marked influence on the Democratic sentiment of Missouri. Thousands of life-long Democrats are in a frame of mind that will cause them either to vote the Republican ticket or stay at home on election day. With the Democratic vote of the state thus weakened, it is easy to see how a fair election in St. Louis may work highly important changes in the November results. That Missouri may have a Republican governor for the next four years and give her electoral vote to Roosevelt and Fairbanks is not only within the range of possibilities, but is entirely probable.

THE GRAND JURY
WILL QUIT TODAYHas Returned Quite a Number of Indictments.The Criminal Term of Circuit Court Adjourns—A Busy Session of Police Court.

NEWS OF THE OTHER COURTS

CIRCUIT COURT.

Circuit Judge William Read will
this afternoon finally adjourn the September term of McCracken criminal court after a very successful term.

During the past three weeks fourteen prisoners have been convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary for terms running from one year to seven.
The court has been characteristic of Judge Reed's promptness, firmness, and determination to hold court right.

This morning G. W. (Bud) Elrod was granted a new trial and released on a $300 recognizance bond. He was given 18 months in the penitentiary for false swearing.

In the settlement division suits of Mabel C. Weeks against Beniah A.
Weeks, a judgment was filed.

Thomas Riddle was granted a divorce from his wife Lottie Riddle.

Minnie Shelton was granted a divorce from her husband Ira L. Shelton.

Judge Reed just before the noon adjournment drew the jury list for the next term.

SUIT ON NOTE.

Henry Temple, Jr., this morning
died in circuit court a suit against G.
J. Barrow to collect $200 on notes not for the enforcement of a lien to satisfy the claims.

WILL FILED FOR PROBATE.

The will of the late Assistant Fire Chief W. E. Augustus was filed for probate today in county court.

He leaves the occupancy of his home on South Fourth street, to his daughter, Ollie, and in event she does not occupy it within two years after his death, his son Harry shall occupy it, and the furniture shall be divided between the daughter and son. The personal effects—watch, etc., go to the son, Harry Augustus. Captain E. J.
Warley is named administrator of his estate.

MARRIAGE LICENSE.

L. J. McManus, of Graves county, age 44 and Mattie Roberts, of the city,
age 16, have been licensed to wed. It will make the groom's second marriage and the bride's first.

J. J. Clark, of the county, age 30, and Minnie Hines, of the county, age 17, have been licensed to wed. It will make the first marriage of both.

COUNTY COURT.

Katie Donovan to Mary Voelkel, for $2,000, property near Sixth and Ohio streets.

LUNATICS TAKEN AWAY.

Officers Scott Ferguson and Aaron Harley left at noon for Hopkinsville
with Dora Dunn and Osborne Travis,
the former white and the latter colored, who will be placed in the asylum. The woman was yesterday adjudged an idiot and the latter an imbecile. Of the two the negro is the worst, imagining he has been poisoned and accusing first one person and then another of having ruined him with blue stone. Travis' chief stunt was to throw rocks at school children who he imagined threw at him. He is a grave digger, employed at the cemetery for 30 years.

GRAND JURY DISCHARGED.

The grand jury reported this afternoon and returned several indictments but none were made public. The jury was discharged and court finally adjourned.

POLICE COURT.

Louis Dorob, a little German baker, went into the wholesale thriving
business last night but Officers Thad Terrell and E. A. Cross put him out of business.

Dorob found his way to the George Simpson restaurant near Second and Kentucky Avenue, the place formerly run by William Greek, and went up stairs to the sleeping apartments. He had on rather shabby clothes and wearing George C. May, John Tommie and Peter Deminski asleep, proceeded to disrobe and put on the best clothes

he could select from the chairs about the room. After he had put on Deminski's coat and pants he went to collecting watches and money and secured a timepiece from Tommie and Deminski, $9 in money from Tommie and $30 from May's trousers.

After he had taken everything of value in sight he went down stairs and repaired to the Red Fox saloon to enjoy a few drinks.

"Set me out a few choice cocktails," he ordered, and the obliging bandster furnished him with all he wanted, Dorob having plenty of cash.
One after the other was poured down until finally he fell to the floor, limp and helpless.

Officers Cross and Terrell happened
along and seeing Dorob in such a benighted condition and suspecting something, arrested him and then worked the case up. This morning Dorob was held over to the grand jury which found an indictment immediately after the case was referred to it.

Dorob will be tried next term of circuit court and is in jail unable to give a $300 bond.

Will Minor, colored, was fined $10
and costs and Joe Long was dismissed
of the charge of breach of the peace.

The case against Isaac Taylor, Hester Crutchfield and Mary Crutchfield,
colored, for acting in a disorderly manner, was left open. The additional breach of the peace charge against Taylor was also continued.

John German, white, was fined $1
and costs for being drunk.

Wood Jones, white, was fined $5
and costs for a breach of the peace.

Joe Potter, who formerly worked about the city hall as turnkey, was arraigned on a warrant charging petty larceny. It is alleged he was left in charge of the Sherrill saloon for a few moments, while the bartender went next door to telephone,
and took $6 out of the cash drawer.
Potter says he can prove he had the money before he entered the saloon and was given an opportunity to show it, the case being continued to permit him to secure witnesses.

Dave Calahan, white, was fined $1
and costs for being drunk.

Luther Sawyer, white, was fined $1
and costs for drunkenness.

The case against Adam Weikert and C. M. Roper, charging breach of the peace, was left open.

The case against Wiley Taylor, colored, for carrying a concealed weapon,
was left open again.

WOMEN UPLIFTED.

Chinese Dowager Empress Does Good Work Elevating Her Sex.

Shanghai.—Woman, downtrodden for thousands of years, is asserting herself in China. The dowager empress is lifting up other women whom she has learned to trust.

Mrs. Yu King, wife of the former Chinese minister to France, and their two daughters have been in the empress' highest favor. Her majesty has just given another proof of her confidence in the accomplished young women, who were educated in France and who teach French and English to the ladies of the court. By the same token the empress has highly affronted the wai wou pu, the bureau of foreign affairs, whose members, however, still smile, having due regard for their positions and their heads.

The wai wou pu is charged with translating for the empress state cablegrams from foreign countries. But the Misses Yu King, to whom some such translations were submitted, found that many did not convey the meaning of the originals and others bore a double meaning, of which one always sustained the wai wou pu's view of the affair
in hand.

Now, by the emperor's command, the originals of all such cablegrams go direct to the Misses Yu King and they translate them for the real ruler of China.

KILL CREW.

Act of Atrocious Barbarity Committed
By Band of Chinese Pirates.

London.—The following story of barbarity by Chinese pirates has been brought from Hong Kong to Sydney by a steamer Australian:

A band of coast pirates in ten boats,
coming out to attack a passing junk,
he captain of the latter fired a small annon at them, sinking three boats.
The pirates, on capturing the junk, uttered the master and the whole crew and forced all the passengers, numbering over forty, into the hold,
which they securely nailed down. After completely ransacking the junk they set fire to her and not a passenger escaped.

A PASTOR'S WIFE CURED OF PELVIC CATARRHShe Suffered for Years and Felt Her Case Was Hopeless—Cured by Pe-ru-na.

MRS. ANNA B. FLEHARTY, recent Superintendent of the W. C. T. U. headquarters, at Galesburg, Ill., was for ten years one of the leading women there. Her husband, when living, was first President of the Nebraska Wesleyan University, at Lincoln, Neb.

In a letter written from 401 Sixty-seventh street, W., Chicago, Ill., Mrs.
Fleharty says the following in regard to Peruna:

"Having lived a very active life as wife and working partner of a busy minister, my health failed me a few years ago. I lost my husband about the same time, and gradually I seemed to lose health and spirit. My daughter is confirmed invalid, and we both felt great need of an invigorator.

"One of my neighbors advised me to try Peruna. A bottle was immediately secured and a great change took place in my daughter's as well as in my own health. Our appetites improved very greatly,
the digestion seemed much helped,
and restful sleep soon improved us, so that we seemed like new women.

"I would not be without Peruna for ten times its cost."—Mrs. Anna
B. Fleharty.

What used to be called female diseases
by the medical profession is now called pelvic catarrh. It has been found by experience that catarrhal diseases of the pelvic organs are the cause of most cases of female diseases.

Dr. Hartman was among the first of America's great physicians to make this discovery. For forty years he has been treating diseases peculiar to women, and long ago he reached the conclusion that a woman entirely free from catarrhal affection of these organs would not be subject to female diseases. He therefore began using Peruna for these cases and found it so admirably adapted to their permanent cure that Peruna has now become the most famous remedy for female diseases ever known. Everywhere the women are using it and praising it. Peruna is not a palliative simply; it cures by removing the cause of female diseases.

Dr. Hartman has probably cured more women of female ailments than any other living physician. He makes these cures simply by using and recommending Peruna.

Mrs. Esther M. Milner, DeGraff, Ohio,
writes:

"I was a terrible sufferer from female weakness and had the headache continuously. I was not able to do my housework for myself and husband. I wrote you and described my condition as near as possible. You recommended Peruna.
I took four bottles and was completely cured. I think Peruna a wonderful medicine."—Mrs. Esther M. Milner.

Congressman Thad. M. Mahon, of Chambersburg, Pa., writes:

"I take pleasure in commending
your Peruna as a substantial tonic and a good catarrh remedy."— T. M. Mahon.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

HORSES HAVE LOCKJAW.

There is a great deal of tetanus among the horses in Paducah. Tetanus is commonly known as "lock-jaw" and this month five cases came under treatment of one veterinarian. It is stated that more lockjaw has been noticed among the horses this summer than in several years.

W. C. T. U.

Union will hold its annual election of officers next Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the lecture room of the First Christian church. A full attendance of the members is much desired. The reports from all superintendents of department work must be submitted.

WITH THE SICK.

Mr. John Cobb, of the News-Democrat, who has been quite ill for several days past, is better today, but is not yet able to get out.

The little daughter of J. D. Palmer, of North Seventh street, is ill.
Miss Tenie Ashoff is ill.

The police have found no trace of Will Van Dalsen, the slayer of Faun's Porter at Louisville, and think he has fled the city or committed suicide by jumping into the river.

The four-year-old daughter of James Kinley, of Port Washington, La. I., was swallowed up by quicksand within sight of her mother.

Discouraged and ill, Michael Schall and Miss Nettie Gattmatt, of York, Pa., turned on the gas in her apartments and died together.

The board of public works will shortly discuss and probably act on the city electric light question. One of the members, Mr. S. A. Fowler, while in Chicago and St. Louis recently, consulted with a number of electrical engineers, and the plan they suggest is for the city to outline a plan of what it wants and then some electrical expert can come here, look over the plant, and tell exactly what is needed to obtain the desired results.

Nothing can be done this year as there is no appropriation, but the board of works desires to take up the matter as soon as possible and have it all settled by that time. By January 1st it can begin carrying out its plans.

The city is entirely too large for the number of lights we have. Owensboro is not near as large as Paducah, but has twice as many street lights, which are burned every night, while Paducah still uses the "moon-light schedule." It is probable the board of public works will take up the matter within the next month.

The joint cemetery committee of the general council has decided to recommend the purchase of the Starr farm on the Mayfield road, for cemetery and hospital purposes. From talk heard today, however, the city will probably decline to do any such silly thing as buy the property. There are 160 acres, and the entire cost would be $13,000. It is understood that one tract of the land, 80 acres, is owned by several heirs, and that one of them will refuse to sign it, yet the committee, from reports, is in favor of buying it anyhow and take chances of getting a clear title.

The most absurd thing about it, however, is the fact that the intention is to have a cemetery on one side of the road and a public park on the other. The cemetery would be two miles or more from Oak Grove. Another thing is that there is no way to get out there, and may not be for many a year.

The city had a chance not long ago to buy adjoining property enough to double the size of Oak Grove for $3,500, but was not satisfied with the title to the property. The general opinion seems to be that if the city is going to enlarge the cemetery, which seems to need it, it should get the property as near the cemetery as possible, or at least somewhere on a car line.

The board of aldermen yesterday afternoon exonerated City Weigher Hesselton on charges of incompetency. The so-called investigation was a farce. There was no intention of presenting the evidence procurable, and some of the board of aldermen stated that while they knew the charges could be sustained, they had decided the case according to the evidence, and the mayor, who preferred the charges, presented precious little evidence. Two aldermen voted to sustain the charges, Aldermen Davis and Greif, but did it solely on the defendant's own statement. Alderman Charles Smith, who was one of the witnesses against Hesselton, was excused from voting. He forgot his evidence, and did not testify, as well as did not vote.

Mr. George Robertson, the ice man, was introduced and had four separate certificates for three loads weighed. The weigher could not tell how he came to make four certificates for three loads. Mr. E. Carter had a certificate showing a mistake of 1,000 pounds. Mr. Hesselton when asked whether it was due to incompetency or carelessness, simply replied to the attorney: "Well, you make mistakes, don't you?"

One alderman said today: "We didn't turn him out because he has only about three months longer to serve."

Alderman Kraus is said to have some time ago discovered two mistakes, one of 1,000 and one of 300 pounds, in loads of straw for Rehkopf & Co., but the evidence was not introduced. Alderman Smith who never testified nor voted, was one of the first to complain to the mayor of the weigher, as he does a great deal of weighing on the city scales.

One of the witnesses said today with a laugh: "Well, I told them beforehand, that there was no use holding any trial, as they didn't intend to do anything. So far as I am concerned, all I want is that they put somebody at the city scales that we can depend on. The records in the auditor's office show a constant decrease in the receipts of the city scales, because we know we can't depend on the man the city has there. The mayor knows it, too, because some one told him as early as last spring. Last week I had fifty tons of hay, and I weighed it every bit on other scales. I know that a man is foolish to weigh on the city scales with mistakes of 1,000 pounds or more being made every once and a while. It would be considerable money to the city, to do this weighing, but they know why it isn't done there."

It is also claimed that the city weigher has never since he has been in office, complied with the law requiring him to make daily reports to the city auditor. These things, however, were ignored in presenting evidence to the aldermanic board.

ABILENA

Abilena is natural water. It holds in solution salts dissolved from natural deposits in the earth. It is Nature's cathartic compound—a natural mineral water. Mineral waters are recognized everywhere as the most efficient, as well as the least injurious, cathartics. Abilena is the best mineral water on the American market. It is The American Natural Cathartic. The discovery of Abilena was a simple revelation of nature. For a long time a ter first well was dug, the water, being unfit for domestic purposes, was not used at all. Practically, tests afterward disclosed its medicinal properties and the report of its virtue was rapidly disseminated. Finally several chemists analyzed the water and the results manifested its great therapeutic value and preindicated its future renown. Sold only by

A BAD DISORDER

In the fall of 1893 I contracted that fearful disease, Blood Poison. It gained such headway that I was forced to resign my position and seek relief at Hot Springs. After spending all the means I had I went to Memphis. In less than three weeks I was in a hospital, and after nine weeks of suffering I was discharged as cured. In less than a month every bone in my body seemed to be affected and felt as if they would break at the least exertion. Again I was compelled to resign, and I returned to the hospital for a seven weeks stay. When I came out I was advised to try farming. When I first went on the farm I prevailed on the only firm who handled drugs to get me one dozen bottles of S. S. S. At that time both of my hands were broken out with blisters and I was covered with boils and sores. In the meantime my druggist had gotten two dozen bottles of S. S. S. for me and I began its use, and after taking the thirteenth bottle not a sore or boil was visible. R. B. POWELL, East 9th St., Little Rock, Ark.

Of all human diseases, Contagious Blood Poison is the most hideous and hateful. The victim is tortured with eating ulcers, sores and abscesses, unsightly blotches, eruptions and other symptoms of the miserable disease. S. S. S. has been used successfully for nearly fifty years for Contagious Blood Poison. It contains no mercury, potash or other mineral. Our home treatment book gives all the symptoms of this disease. Medical advice free.

ONLY A FEW

ONE YOUTH OF TWENTY IN THE SCHOOLS LAST YEAR.

Some of the Kentucky papers are claiming that Judge William Reed's decision here recently in circuit court relative to the age at which a child may enter school, and holding that any child six years old may enter the schools the minute he becomes six, is "loaded at both ends." In other words, that if children may enter school at 6 they may be turned out of school the minute they are 20, which is correct. The only thing about it is that not one in thousands of children goes to school until twenty. Last year there was only one person in the white and one person in the colored schools here twenty years old. Judge Reed's decision admits hundreds of children to the schools who would otherwise have been kept out, while only one in thousands will be kept out of school by reason of becoming twenty years of age during the term.

NEW SCHOOL

PUPILS IN LITTLEVILLE WILL HAVE ONE OF THEIR OWN SOON.

There is to be a school in Littleville for the forty-five or fifty pupils who reside there and have to walk long distances to get to school. The school board will be at little expense, as the people out there are going to pay for the building, fuel, etc., the school board to pay nothing but the teacher.

As forecast in yesterday's Sun, Prof. M. V. Miller, of Graves county, has been selected to teach the school, and the board of education will meet in called session one night this week to formally elect him.

WILL NOT ALLOW IT.

The Board of Public Works will not permit the street car company to erect a transfer shed at Fourth and Broadway. The company asked permission at the council meeting Monday night and the matter was referred to the Board of Public Works, but the latter, it is learned from members, will not allow it, claiming that it will obstruct the pavement and streets.

Yellow Flat's Heiress

By HARRISON SMITH

Copyright, 1901, by Richard B. Shelton

The Interstate limited had rumbled along for the last hour and a half across brown, level plains, whose hope less homogeneity of landscape was only occasionally relieved by clumps of de-jected and no less hopeless cotton-woods. Presently the whistle tooted hoarsely. There was a grinding of set brakes, and the train slowed down and came to a stop before a bare little station, a derelict seemingly in this level waste.

Tancred rose rather unwillingly from his comfortable chair and, preceded by the obsequious porter bearing his heavy suit case, stepped from the lim-ited on to the uneven board platform of Yellow Flat station. He looked about him, and his heart sank. The porter beside him seemed to him the representative of a civilization that would depart when the limited pulled out. So Tancred gave the porter a half dollar and stood watching the receding train with a feeling that he had been marooned.

There was one consolation, however. He could finish up the business which had brought him hither in a day or two and quit this desolation. A week of this flat nothingness he felt would drive him mad. He sought the station agent and inquired of him the best way to reach Tapley's ranch. The agent handed a nondescript individual addressed as Jock, who was leaning on the benches, and asked him what he could do for this gentleman, who wanted to get to Tapley's.

"Old man Tapley at the 4X?" said Jock. "Sure! Drop you there on my way to the Crescent." He led the way to a vehicle outside, half wagon, half buckboard. "Hop in," he said hospitably.

Jock clucked to his team, and they jolted over the brown plains behind a pair of piebald ponies whose chief ac-complishment seemed to lie in whisk-ing their tails over the lines and run-ning like mad. Jock was not loquacious, and Tancred was in no mood to talk. Frankly he wished the thing was over and that he was starting back east.

He fell to wondering what sort of a girl this niece of Tapley's was like. Probably she was old and more or less of a barbarian or perhaps she was the sort who would say, "Oh, ain't that lovely?" when he told her his late client, the Hon. Peter Chisholm, had left her a fortune that had been the envy of many scheming women in the circle of the unmarried Peter's acquaintance. Jock here beside him could probably enlighten him as to Miss Parsons, but he was scarcely worth while. She was some quite impossible person no doubt. He handed Jock a cigar and put the whole thing from his mind.

It was gray twilight when they drove up to the ranch house at the 4X. Tancred alighted and was warmly wel-come by Tapley.

"I don't care a snap of my fingers what business it is that has brought you," he said to Tancred. "You're to stay just as long as you can stand it with us, and a little longer if you have any charity for isolated old chaps like myself," he added hospitably. "A man in touch with things in the east is a godsend, sir. Supper will be ready shortly, and meanwhile Gertrude shall give you some tea. Pardon me a mo-ment, and I'll hunt her up."

The room they had entered evidently served as a library. Books lined the walls, tempting chairs offered their comfort, skin rugs covered the polished floor. It was quiet and in excellent taste. Tancred's misgivings about the lady were somewhat mitigated.

At that moment Tapley returned. "Mr. Tancred," he said, "permit me to present the lady whose business brought you here, my niece, Miss Parsons."

Tancred bowed and murmured his greetings somewhat incoherently, for surprise had tied his tongue. Had he met her on Broadway he would have looked at her more than once, but find-ing such a girl at Yellow Flat fairly took away his breath.

"Won't you let me take away the bad taste of your ride with some tea?" she asked solicitously.

Tancred acquiesced heartily and seated himself near the dainty tea table where she was busying herself.

"Twenty-two," he told himself men-tally, "and the finest eyes in America."

In that half hour at the tea table Tancred fell in love, and having fallen in love, the object of his coming here intruded itself like a black cloud in the fair sky of his happiness. This girl was an heiress. It was this he had come to tell her. And Tancred, albeit a sturdy young lawyer, was by no means wealthy. He suddenly resolved to let the fortune remain in the back-ground for a week at least. He would be unreservedly happy for that time, and then—"Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof," he told himself.

"Cousin Peter couldn't have left me much," said Miss Parsons.

"No," said Tancred, carrying out his resolution. "I'll go over the papers carefully, and in a week's time I think I can tell you the exact amount."

A week went by—two weeks—a month. Still the exact amount of Cousin Peter's legacy was not vouch-safed to Miss Parsons. She seemed to have found a richer legacy in her rides with Tancred across the brown plains and her talks with him before the li-brary fire. Uncle Tapley looked on with happy approval.

"They're thoroughbreds—a fine pair," he told himself often and with much satisfaction.

It was at the end of the sixth week of his stay at the 4X ranch that Tancred after a night of sleepless agony resolved to terminate the pangs of con-science which were beginning to trou-ble him seriously. They had ridden that morning to a group of wells on the northern border of the ranch. The air was crisp and clear, and Miss Par-sons, with eyes sparkling and cheeks aglow from the ride, was doubly charming.

Tancred's mind reverted to that af-ternoon when he had stood on the plat-form of the Yellow Flat station.

"I felt as if I were marooned," he told himself, "and I was marooned—in paradise."

He squared his shoulders and turned to the girl.

"I'm going back tomorrow," he said, with quiet force.

"Tomorrow?" The consternation in her voice set his heart thumping, but he went on calmly.

"Yes; tomorrow. You and I are very far apart." His voice had a note of sadness.

"Are we very far apart?" she said, looking away.

"Three hundred thousand dollars," he said.

"I—I don't think I understand you," she said, regarding him with wonder-ing eyes.

"Cousin Peter is responsible," he ob-served.

"Oh!" she gasped. "Was it all that?"

"Yes," he said. "You understand, of course, why I go?"

She was silent. Her face was turned from him again. Presently he caught the sound of a sob.

"Miss Parsons—Gertrude!" he cried, and—such are resolutions—he put his arm about her.

"I'll—I'll give it away," she said, sob-bing unrestrainedly on his shoulder.

And because of this, brown, bare Yellow Flat became the garden of Eden—to Tancred, at least.

Three Poems.

Poems are of three kinds—magazine poems, tone poems and gowns.

Magazine poems have distinct reasons d'etre. There is always unconscious idiosyncrasy seeking expression. Besides, the space between stories is often too large for a tall piece and too small for an il-lustration, whereupon it is a poem or nothing, and nothing, while it has its points of superiority, is typographically ineffective.

A tone poem is the Pierian spring escaping through a slide trombone, with any kind of a seat, at $5.

In the opinion of some sober critics gowns are quite as dithyrambic in form as they would be had Walt Whit-man been a milliner. They follow no rule of construction further than that they look best on women who can least afford them.

Poem was originally a Greek word, meaning merely a thing made. A thing made to order is a later signifi-cance.—Life.

A Substitute For Images.

Members of the Greek church of Russia, where images are forbidden, have resorted to what an unfriendly critic has described as an ingenious evasion of an ecclesiastical prohibition.

They do not carve a figure out of marble or shape it in bronze, but they paint the face, hands and perhaps the feet of a saint on wood and form the robes by means of metal work in relief. The nimbus of the saint is not infrequently enameled and in some cases the drapery is studded with precious stones, but bejeweled icons of any real value are not, as a rule, to be found in churches, though some-times images are covered with glass to protect them from the kisses of those who come to pray before them.

What an "Old Man Kangaroo Mile" Is

What is an "old man kangaroo mile"? The expression was used by the premier of Victoria in a recent speech, and one of the reporters subsequently asked him what it meant. "Well, you see," he replied, "an ordinary English mile is 1,760 yards; an old man kangaroo mile would be about 500 yards extra."

The old man kangaroo is the big-gest and most powerful of the mar-supials, and it can cover a mile very rapidly with tremendous jumps. A race between an old man kangaroo and a motor car would be worth seeing if it were possible to arrange and carry out such a contest.—London Chronicle.

ELECTRIC ENGINES

ILLINOIS CENTRAL MAY LATER
ON ADOPT THEM.

Chicago, September 21.—The Illi-nois Central railroad officials will watch with interest the tests of elec-tric locomotives to be made by the New York Central within the next two weeks. Upon the results will de-pend the substitution of electric motors for steam power on the lake front.

The noise and the dense black smoke of the soft coal burning engines are extremely objectionable and cause many complaints from tenants of the new Railway Exchange Building and the proprietors of hotels on Michigan Avenue. The smoke kills the trees, shrubs and plants along Michigan Avenue, and even injures the grass.

As soon as the New York Central engines are ready they will be taken to the ten mile stretch of track which has been prepared near Amsterdam, and for several days the tests will pro-ceed. During the speed tests it is hoped to attain a maximum of seventy-five miles an hour, although in the hauling of heavy trains between 60 and 65 miles an hour probably will be the limit.

NEGLECTED COLDS.

Every part of the mucous membrane, the nose, throat, ears, head and lungs, etc., are subject to disease and blight from neglected colds. Ballard's Hore-bound Syrup is a pleasant and effective remedy. 25c, 50c, $1.00. W. A. Moran of the Lady Letty

CHAPTER XIV.

A LITTLE while after Wilbur had set off from the station, while Moran was making the last entries in the logbook, seated at the table in the cabin, Jim appeared at the door.

"Well?" she said, looking up.

"China boy him want go ashore? plenty big, see um men up Chinatown in um city?"

"Shore leave, is it?" said Moran. "You deserted once before without even saying goodbye, and my hand in the fire, you'll come back this time with a good word, get away with you! We'll have men aboard here in a few days."

"Can go?" inquired Jim suavely.

"I said so. Report our arrival to your ship company."

Huang roved Jim and the coolies ashore and then returned to the schooner with the dory and steamed her stern. As he passed the cabin door on his way forward Moran hailed him.

"I thought, you went ashore?" she cried.

"Hemp fluid," he answered. "Him other boy go up Chinatown; him tell Sam Yip. I think Sam Yip all same kill me. I no leave um ship two, three day. Humphy I go Oregon. I stay topside ship. You want um cook. I cook plenty fine; stand up watch for you."

Indeed, ever since leaving Colorado the ex-beachcomber had made himself very useful about the schooner. He had been, in fact, obsequiousness itself and seemed to be particularly desirous of gaining the good will of the Bertha's officers. He understood pigeon English better than Jim and spoke it even better than Charlie had done. He acted the part of interpreter between Wilbur and the hands, even turned to in the galley upon occasion and of his own accord offered to give the vessel a coat of paint above the water line. Moran turned back to her log.

He went forward, standing on the forward deck, he looked after the Bertha's coolies until they disappeared behind a row of pine trees on the Freshie reservation, going cityward. Wilbur was nowhere in sight. For a long time Huang studied the lifeboat station narrowly while he made a great show of coiling a length of rope. The station was just out of hailing distance. Nobody seemed stirring. The whole shore and back land thereabout was deserted; the edge of the city was four miles distant. Huang returned to the forecastle hatch and went below, groping under his bunk in his dirty box.

"Well, what is it?" exclaimed Moran a moment later as the beachcomber entered the cabin and shut the door behind him.

Huang did not answer, but she did not need to repeat the question. In an instant Moran knew very well what he had come for.

"Heavens!" she exclaimed under her breath, springing to her feet. "Why didn't we think of this?"

Huang slipped his knife from the sleeve of his blouse. For an instant the old imperiousness, the old savage pride and anger, leaped again in Moran's breast, then died away forever. She was no longer the same Moran of that first fight on board the schooner, when the beachcombers had plundered her of her "loot." Only a few weeks ago and she would have fought with Huang without hesitation and without mercy; would have wrangled a leg from the table and brained him where he stood. But she had learned since to know what it meant to be dependent, to rely for protection upon some one who was stronger than she, to know her weakness, to know that she was at last a woman and to be proud of it.

She did not fight; she had no thought of fighting. Instinctively she cried aloud: "Mate, mate! Oh, mate, where are you? Help me!" And Huang's knife nuzzled the words within her throat.

The "loot" was in a brass bound chest under one of the cabin's bunks stowed in two gunny bags. Huang drew them out, knotted the two together and, slinging them over his shoulder, regained the deck.

He looked carefully at the angry sky and swilling seas, noting the direction of the wind and set of the tide, then went forward and cast the anchor-chains from the windlass in such a manner that the schooner must inevitably wrench free with the first heavy strain. The dory was still tugging at the line astern. Huang dropped the sacks in the boat, swung himself over the side and rowed calmly toward the station's wharf. If any notion of putting to sea with the schooner had entered the obscure, perverted cunning of his mind, he had almost instantly rejected it. Chinatown was his aim. Once there and under the protection of his tone, Huang knew that he was safe. He knew the hiding places that the See Yip association provided for its members, hiding places whose very existence was unknown to the police of the white devil.

ABESSES.

W. H. Harrison, Cleveland, Miss., writes, Aug. 15, 1902: "I want to say a word of praise for Ballard's Snow Liniment. I stepped on a nail, which caused the cords in my leg to contract and an abscess to rise in my knee, and the doctor told me that I would have a stiff leg, so one day I went to J. E. Lord's drug store (who is now in Denver, Colo.) He recommended a bottle of Snow Liniment; I got a 50c size, and it cured my leg. It is the best liniment in the world."

ABESSES, with few exceptions, are indicative of constipation or debility. They may, however, result from blows or from foreign bodies, introduced into the skin or flesh, such as splinters, thorns, etc.

THE INDICATIONS FAVOR THE REPUBLICANS

New York.—Although the policy of silence imposed by National Chairman Cortelyou on all those connected with the management of the Republican national campaign is being very rigidly adhered to, some reports of what is the official view of the campaign have drifted into outside channels. Those reports more than confirm the impression that forces itself on the visitor at national headquarters at 1 Madison avenue that the Republican managers are more confident of success than they care to let the public or even the rank and file of the party workers know.

Obviously the Republican national campaign is thoroughly organized. The national headquarters resembles the main office of a completely equipped corporation, or one of the great departments at Washington. Order and system obtain there as they do ordinarily only in institutions of long standing. They are the more surprising when contrasted with the confusion that prevails at the Democratic headquarters on 34th street. The visitor at Republican headquarters sees somehow behind all this orderly routine and calm confidence a hidden reserve of assurance.

When the Republican managers surveyed the political field immediately after the nomination of Judge Parker they conceded to the Democrats, in addition to the solid south, a few of the small mining states—New York, Maryland and Missouri.

Of course their greatest concern was about New York, where there is a very large swinging vote. For about two weeks the Republican managers were uncertain which way that vote would swing. New York, it was admitted, was pretty evenly balanced. With the right kind of a Democratic campaign, it was admitted by impartial observers, Parker had a chance of carrying the Empire state. But along about the first of August there were signs that the swinging vote, which decides elections in this state, was going towards the Republican camp. Democratic enthusiasm found no inspiration after the first effect of Parker's famous telegram had worn off, and the judge's speech of acceptance was a distinct disappointment. The Parker campaign was not making headway and as a campaign must move in one direction or another it was obviously losing ground. From that time the Republican managers ceased to class New York among the doubtful states and at the present time they are supremely confident that New York is safely Republican. It is expected that the up-state Republican majority of 1902—130,000—will be more than maintained this fall, and the Democratic majority below the Bronx is estimated by the Republicans at about 80,000. Charles F. Murphy's estimate for Greater New York is understood to be but little more than that. The Tammany leader, it is rumored, does not count on a Democratic majority of more than 85,000 in the city.

It is understood that the Republican managers consider Maryland at the present time a doubtful state. They expect that the vote there will be very close and that the margin, whether Democratic or Republican, will be small.

Colorado, the Roosevelt campaigners expect, will be found in the Republican column. Influences arising from the recent labor troubles there are said to favor the Republican cause. And the latest reports from Nevada are said to show that that state, the home of free diversities, is likely to go Republican.

California is expected to give a handsome Republican majority. According to reports from that state the election of Roosevelt is regarded there as so certain that there is no campaign excitement to speak of. The whole Pacific slope, it is understood, is regarded as Republican territory by the men in control of the Roosevelt canvass.

DREAMS THAT MADE MEN FAMOUS

Some of the most popular novels in our language owe their origin entirely to dreams. For the wonderful workings of the brain during sleep often furnish material which the author is not slow to turn to good account.

Had it not been for a dream "P. J. Binson Crusoe" would probably never have been written. At the time the plot was first conceived Defoe was suffering from great mental worry that resulted in his slumbers being broken by incessant nightmares. On one of these occasions he dreamed that he was stranded on a desert island alone and began to work out in the dream a means of existence. So pleased was he with the experience that Defoe confessed to feelings of disappointment when he awoke, and he fastened to put his vision into readable form.

"Rienzi" was the dream offspring of Lord Lytton's brain, the whole plot appearing before him in the short space of two hours' sleep between violent attacks of neuralgia. Kingsley, after a hard day's fishing, went to sleep, only to get a shadowy outline of "Westward Ho" in his dreams, though what connection the story had with his sport it is difficult to understand.

Few people know why Coleridge's entrancing poem "Kubla Khan" remains unfinished, but this masterpiece has a very remarkable history. The poet had just taken an anodyne and dropped off to sleep, when the poem began to shape itself in his mind and the lines to run in rhyming order. When he awoke he rushed to his writing table and wrote out the lines as he now have them, without a second's pause, but his memory failed him at the conclusion, so the work was never completed. Another famous poem composed in a dream was "The Bells," while the same author, Edgar Poe, formulated one of his finest pieces of prose, "The Masque of the Red Death," during the hours of unconsciousness.

"The Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" probably caused Stevenson more mental trouble than any of his other works, but a dream got him out of the difficulty. He began a story about a man's double, but it appeared so unsatisfactory to him that he tore it up without banishing the theme from his mind. One night, however, he dreamed the scene at the window and a few minor incidents, while the second night the remainder of the plot followed, and the story was soon on paper.

Another famous author, G. P. R. James, had contracted to supply his publishers with the opening chapter of a new book by a certain date, but he entirely forgot all about the contract until the night before it expired. He relates that he sat over the fire late into the early hours of the morning, but a plot of any kind absolutely refused to come to him until, disheartened, he went to bed. Then, during the hours of sleep, the missing plot wrote itself mechanically in his mind and ere the next day had passed the first few chapters of "Bernard Marsh" were in the hands of the publisher.

One of Condon Kernahan's most delightful volumes is "God and the Ant," a fantasy that makes it easy to believe that the book was the result of a dream. Mr. Kernahan in the preface acknowledges it to be a vision which appeared to him in sleep put into words. Mr. W. L. Alden likewise dreamt the majority of the plot and the detail of the opening chapters of one of his most recent works, which he very fittingly named "Out of the Night."

Only two authors are known to have gone so far as to cultivate dreams for the purpose of plot manufacturers. Dryden often ate raw beefsteaks at night, and the nightmares that followed originated some of his most notable poems. Mayne Reid confessed that his prolificacy in producing novels was due in some measure to his habit of eating a handful of horse chestnuts ere he retired to rest when in need of a plot.

Use Shoffner's Sure Cure

The Great Tonic and Blood Purifier—Cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia and Catarrh.

It is a trite and true saying that the "blood is the life." Now where does the blood come from? Everybody knows, or should know, that it comes from the nutritive elements extracted by the stomach from the food we eat. If the digestive organs do not perform their functions by reason of disease germs, there is no nutrition extracted, and the food might better be thrown in the dump to decay and breed germs in the open air than to remain in the stomach and become a rotten, putrid mass, as it naturally does if there is no digestion. No disease germ can live and find lodgment in a human body that uses the Shoffner's Sure Cure. Price $1.00.

KENTUCKY NEWS TOLD IN PARAGRAPHS

WILL PLEAD INSANITY.

Owensboro, Ky., September 21.—The Rev. W. W. Armer, the Presbyterian preacher who is in jail here for the murder of his son, was indicted by the McLean county grand jury for murder in the first degree. Armer will be taken back to Calhoun and arraigned for trial. His case will be set for Thursday. He was brought to Owensboro for safe keeping. His brother, from Brosin, Ill., was in the city and said that he asked for was a fair trial. Armer killed his son in McLean county on May 25, for slight provocation. He will plead insanity.

FOR CONGRESS.

Scottsville, Ky., September 21.—Hon. James M. Richardson, of Glasgow, present state prison commissioner, was nominated for congress at the Third District Democratic Convention yesterday over State Senator N. A. Porter, of Bowling Green, by a vote of 55 to 54. The nomination was then made unanimous. The nominee in the "Bloody Third," so long represented in congress by Hon. John S. Rhea, is the editor of the Glasgow Times. He will resign as prison commissioner and a lively scramble will begin for the vacancy.

NEW PRINCIPAL.

Fulton, Ky., September 21.—At a called meeting of the school board Prof. Don Milam, principal of South Fulton Institute, offered his resignation, to take effect at once. The board declined to consider the matter at first but finally accepted. Prof. Lee Reeves, of East Fulton, takes charge next Monday. Prof. Milam has been at the head of the South Fulton schools the past four years and no principal has given more or better satisfaction. Prof. Milam will take a southern agency for P. F. Collier & Son, publishing house of New York with headquarters at Memphis.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Mayfield, Ky., September 21.—Bryan, the little son of Editor J. R. Lemon, met with a narrow escape while riding a horse. The animal was wild and rushed madly on and finally fell. When the horse fell the lad landed on terra firma, having gone over the head of the horse and sustained but few bruises and no broken bones. The horse in arising grazed the boy's side with a hoof and came near stepping on his head. To eye witnesses the escape was marvelous.

BREWERS ASSOCIATION.

Louisville, Ky., September 21.—The fifth annual convention of the Kentucky Brewers' Association will be held at St. Louis, Mo., in the Kentucky Building on September 26 and 27. The present officers are as follows: President, Charles A. Weber, of Louisville; vice president, Charles Kauffman, of Cincinnati; treasurer, John Gand, of Lexington, and secretary, Joe A. Miller, of Cincinnati.

MOTION OVERRULED.

Frankfort, Ky., September 21.—Judge Settle, in conference with the other judges, overruled the motion to dissolve the mandatory injunction in the Hunter Edwards contest, requiring the Eleventh District Republican committee to meet at Somerset, September 21, and canvass the returns and issue a certificate.

HAD MARRIED 3000 COUPLES. Owensville, Ky., September 21.—Elder James Moore, the oldest man in this section, is dead in Menifee county, aged ninety-seven years. He had been a minister of the Baptist church for over sixty years. He had preached in nearly every county in the state and had married over 3000 couples. He leaves over two hundred descendants.

RURAL CARRIER IN MARSHALL. Louisville, Ky., September 21.—Rural free delivery service is to be established October 15—Benton, Marshall county routes, two to six, inclusive. Population served 2,739; houses on routes, 708. Crutcherfield, Fulton county, route one, population, 560; houses 117.

NEWS FROM WICKLIFFE. Wickliffe, Ky., September 21.—The Mobile and Ohio and Illinois Central railroads have begun economizing by ordering the telephones out of the union station. A petition to the mayor and city council to pass an ordinance prohibiting ing hogs (the four-legged kind) from running at large on the streets is being passed around and seems to be meeting with much favor.

GOING TO FAIR

Chief Wood Makes Good Impression on Fire Fighters.

Has Been Shown a Fine Time in That Sporty City, Louisville

Police Commissioner J. K. Bonds this morning received a letter from Chief J. J. Woods, of the local fire department, who has been attending the meeting of chiefs of fire departments in Chattanooga, Tenn., and is now in Louisville, the guest of Fire Chief Tyson.

Fire Chief Tyson, of Louisville, Chief Woods, of Paducah, and the chiefs of Baltimore and Salt Lake City struck up a great friendship and will leave Louisville Wednesday, today, for St. Louis to attend the fair. Chief Woods states he will return to Paducah on the 24th probably. He has had a nice time and is thoroughly enjoying himself.

This is Chief Woods' first outing in some time and he says he is making the most of it.

NEWS OF THE RIVERS.

The river is again falling, and is today 2.2. The rise was not of long duration.

The Henry Harley cleared at the usual time this morning for Cairo with a good trip.

The Charleston left last night for Tennessee river with a good trip. The Clyde is ready to leave tonight for Tennessee river, and is getting a good trip. All the goods heretofore shipped out of St. Louis on the Tennessee river boats for Tennessee river, will now have to be brought here by rail and carried up by the boats running between Paducah and Tennessee river.

The Bob Dudley is due from Evansville today or tomorrow, but there is no certainty when she will get here.

All the river men are complaining of dull times, and there is still no prospect of a rise.

The transfer boat Pacific at Cairo has been condemned by the government inspectors.

The steamer Pacific was ordered to this harbor about six months ago to take the place of the Henry Marquand in the transfer business from Cairo to Bird's Point. The Marquand was put on the ways for repairs, which have since been completed, and she is now at Gray's Point.

The Pacific was condemned on account of the bad condition of the hull and boilers, the latter being 28 years old. She was built in 1878 at Metropolis, Ill. She is 222 8 feet long and has a breadth of 35.8 feet. Her draught is 6.1 feet, and gross and net tonnage is 457 tons. The engines are 1151 horse power.

The Pacific is owned by the Iron Mountain Railway company.

Six Volumes, 12mo Cloth, Gilt, Illustrated, Boxed, List Price $9.00

Size of Volume, 5 1/2 inches. 2,300 pages, Small Price type.

List of Portraits:

Col. A. K. McClure	Abraham Lincoln	Samuel Houston	Benjamin Harrison	Henry Wadsworth	Joseph H. Choate
George Washington	Edward Everett	William M. Everts	James A. Garfield	William J. Bryan	Horace Greeley
Patrick Henry	Charles Sumner	Daniel Webster	Theodore Roosevelt	Thomas B. Reed	Grover Cleveland
J. C. Calhoun	Jefferson Davis	William McKinley	James G. Blaine	Thomas F. Hoar

This splendid work on oratory and statesmanship has been made in six handsome 12mo. volumes, printed from new, large type-set plates, on fine laid book paper, and bound in the best book binding cloth and leather and enclosed in gold. The entire work is a well-selected library. It is a set of books especially adapted to the students of the present generation, both old and young, and there is no collection of literature that the intelligent young student could study with greater profit. As an educational work it has been pronounced one of the most valuable publications that can be obtained at moderate cost. Following our idea of providing our readers with opportunities of securing many of the best standard books at moderate cost, we now offer to our readers a proposition which is certain to excite the keenest interest among book lovers in all parts of the country. We have determined to furnish this popular collection of books as a premium for old and new subscribers to our journals, making the terms so easy that all who will may have them, notwithstanding the fact that the publisher's price for this set of books is $9.00. With every set there is included 25 separate portraits, printed in the best of color, and the portraits of the United States and their autographs. Instructions are given how to frame these portraits at home by the paste-part process. These portraits are halftones from the finest collection of steel plates in existence. These portraits are separate and are additional to the many illustrations to be found in the set.

THE SUN, Paducah, Ky.

The Paducah Sun offers to place immediately in your possession the new famous work of Colonel A. K. McClure of Philadelphia, entitled Famous American Statesmen and Orators in six volumes, together with 25 portraits of the presidents.

The Sun is only asking you to pay for the expense of delivering, verifying, etc. So you see the big end of the bargain is where it ought to be with the Sun readers.

The new "Famous American Statesmen and Orators" is the biggest bargain in reference work ever placed before the public. Heretofore works on oratory have been sold on subscription at high prices for $30 to $70 a set. And even at these prices have been wonderfully successful.

The great daily newspapers have joined hands and ordered immense editions of the famous work manufactured, and can and do give their readers the benefit of this extraordinary bargain. The work takes up the lives and most important addresses and orations of our great statesmen and orators. No great event took place in the stirring history of the United States but it was recorded for all time by some great orator.

Take Daniel Webster. You will find his wonderful reply to Hayne. You will find Hayne's great address to which Webster so ably replied.

You will find McKinley's last address at Buffalo, and Secretary Hay's beautiful eulogy of our dead president.

The six volumes contain in good readable type 2300 pages, with best orations of our great men from the earliest times to the present.

There are 400 pages in all and fine illustrations of famous men embellish the set. Durable and elegantly bound with neat gold tooling for home library.

The marvel of the proposition is that we offer to place this set of standard works, educational works, with the cost of virtually nothing.

Thousands of sets are now being sent out throughout the country and giving greatest satisfaction. It cannot be had in any other way as the Paducah Sun has secured the exclusive right to make the distribution for the city of Paducah and vicinity.

The sets printed of the presidents are the finest collections of portraits published and are excellent for library hanging. They can easily be framed at home by the simple process they have, or any frame will do the work for you at a minimum cost.

The Sun will make deliveries at once. We want to include your name for the first delivery.

NEW PASTOR

WILL BE SELECTED BY SECOND BAPTIST CONGREGATION.

Tonight a meeting of the congregation of the Second Baptist church will be held to discuss the selection of a new pastor to succeed Rev. W. H. Robinson, who has resigned to go to Louisville and take another course in the Baptist Theological Seminary. Rev. Robinson came to Paducah from Columbus, Ky., two years ago.

NEW ROAD

WILL BE BUILT OVER IN ILLINOIS.

Springfield, Ill., September 21.—Articles of incorporation were filed today of the Frankfort and Ohio river railroad company. The principal office is to be in Chicago. The capital stock is nominally placed at $50,

000. It is proposed to construct a railroad from West Frankfort through the counties of Franklin, Williamson, Saline and Gallatin to a point on the Ohio river in the county of Gallatin.

The incorporators and first board of directors are: Jonathan P. Reeves, Edward H. Sennett, John J. Duck, Fred W. Krohn and Harrison F. Jones, all of Chicago.

CHIMNEY SWEEP

THE FIRST TO VISIT PADUCAH IN MANY YEARS.

Harry Hilton, the first professional chimney sweep to come to Paducah in several years, arrived this morning and created some little interest on Broadway.

Hilton, attired in a short jacket, short pants and clown hat, all covered with soot, walked down the street with a black bag over his shoulder. Hilton carries with him a full outfit for cleaning chimneys and will get plenty of work to do in Paducah, he says, judging from what he received this morning after being out only a short time.

Hilton came here from Cairo where he has been cleaning chimneys and says Paducah has certainly got some clogged and dirty chimneys.

ARM AMPUTATED.

Drs. Eubanks, Stewart, Freeland, Bass and Childress yesterday amputated Mr. W. H. Force's left arm. Mr. Force is a machinist and electrician at Foreman Brothers, and had his left arm injured in a mill twenty-five years ago. Necrosis of the bone recently set in and amputation was necessary. Mr. Force will be out again in a short time his many friends will be glad to learn.

FERTILE VALLEY OF THE MISSISSIPPI.

While it is true Oklahoma Indian Territory and Texas invite the homeseeker and others in search of a profitable investment and business opportunity, there is another field along the Frisco system recently opened to those interested in a personal betterment of financial resources.

On June 1st the line of railroad heretofore known as the St. Louis, Memphis & Southwestern (now Frisco system), was extended to St. Louis, thus making a territory in Missouri and Arkansas, along the west bank of the Mississippi river, accessible by way of St. Louis.

The present service consists of passenger train leaving Union Station 7:10 a. m. daily, for Cape Girardeau, LEXORA, Caruthersville and intermediate points to Memphis, also the Cape Girardeau accommodation (daily), leaving Union Station 4:20 p. m.
